

You waded through a slew of musical theater works, where in some cases composers had to, for some of the lyrical partner or another famous librettist for the job of helping make the songs complete.