

On those rare occasions when you were flagging you smartly understood you could go ahead and grab coffee in both hands for something cold and refreshing to help keep you awake for a few extra hours.