

You helped deprive moles of their livelihood while they were trying to cheat others out of their money, following the principle that it's better to Roman before he can do it to you.